About

Esther Adeniyi was launched in March 2013 and was borne out of the desire to connect with people from all over the world, beginning with my home country of Nigeria. In addition, I see the need to help Bloggers, especially new Bloggers get acquainted and enjoy their blogging journey.

As you may have guessed, my name is Esther. I turned 24 on the 6th of September, 2016. I have a bachelor's degree in Chemistry from the University of Ilorin, and a master's degree in Organic Chemistry from the same school. I once worked as the content and correspondence person in a real estate company- Realty Point Ltd. I also worked as a Search Engine Optimization (SEO) Specialist at Tolet.com.ng (now propertypro.ng). My blog is now my full time job.

During my free time, I read (mostly books on relationships and lifestyle) and watch

ABOUT ME

Hey there, welcome to my Blogging and Lifestyle blog. This is from where I hope to connect with the world. I talk about everything that matters to me (and to you too) because in reality, life is everything and I want to do it with you. Thank you for being a part of my process.

EXPLORE

movies (I love any genre, as long as the movie is captivating and interesting enough to keep me glued).

CAREER

I first started blogging when I was 18 years old. I wanted to write but there just wasn't any platform I had found perfect for me. I launched 'The Nigerian Student' under Blogger when blogging was not yet as popular in Nigeria as it is now (that blog is now history). I then launched this blog and I'm grateful for such a platform.

FAITH

With Esther Adeniyi, I work to provide value to you and help you have a fantastic life as a Blogger, if you are one. I also work with guest and contributing writers who bring fresh perspectives to the blog and help me keep the blog running with utmost efficiency. If you like reading articles that'll improve your life, you'll be comfortable here.
